ANSELL GRIMM & AARON PARTNER ANDREA WHITE DISCUSSES COHABITATION AND FAMILY LAW AT THE MONMOUTH BAR ASSOCIATION ANNUAL FAMILY LAW SEMINAR

Matrimonial & Family Law Partner Andrea White Addresses the Current State of Cohabitation in New Jersey in Her Monmouth Bar Association Speech “Cohabitation – Where Are We Now?”

OCEAN TOWNSHIP, NJ – Andrea B. White, a partner in Ansell Grimm & Aaron, PC’s Matrimonial & Family Law Practice, discussed the impact of the 2014 amendments to the New Jersey alimony statute, specifically the impact of cohabitation on the law in the State of New Jersey at the Monmouth Bar Association Annual Family Law Seminar, Thursday, February 21, 2019, at the South Gate Manor in Freehold, NJ from 3:30 pm – 5:30 pm. The presentation, entitled “Cohabitation – Where are We Now?” provided an update of current trends and the law.

White’s presentation is part of a panel discussing a host of issues impacting families and include a series on “Hot Tips on Hot Topics.”

“The landscape on how cohabitation affects alimony under New Jersey law has materially changed,” White says. “This discussion updates on the shift in cohabitation cases and the impact on New Jersey law.”

The Monmouth Bar Association Annual Family Law Seminar has been approved by the Board on Continuing Legal Education (CLE) of the Supreme Court of New Jersey for 2.0 hours of total CLE credit.
